Free Speech Is Necessary In The Crisis

Judge Camp Rewards Those Who Honored Him With Masterly Address

Those who joined in the Sierra Madre Forum's tribute to Judge and Mrs. E. W. Camp at the Parish House on Monday night were rewarded by hearing a masterly address on "The Freedom of Speech" by the distinguished Sierra Madrean, who left on Tuesday to take up a temporary residence in Los Angeles.

Speaking in the light of present unsettled conditions in this country and throughout the world, the scholarly Mr. Camp took the attitude that it is particularly unwise at this time to stifle the freest discussion and criticism out of which may come a solution of problems that have the world on the verge of chaos.

The officers and members of practically every organization in the city joined with the Forum at the testimonial dinner to the Camps and the seating capacity of the Parish House was taxed. Mrs. J. H. Robertson, president of the Forum, presided and introduced Harold D. Carey who expressed the community's appreciation of the Camps and regret at their departure for ever so short a time. Mrs. Camp was presented with a gorgeous bouquet.

In opening his address Judge Camp said they regretted to leave. "We came to Sierra Madre with two little children who took their places in the grammar school," he said, "and they have grown up and gone out into the world." Swinging into his address he defined "the state" as a living, growing thing—a form of society "with no finality, that knows no completion, is always becoming, never a consummation."

It requires, he said, the utmost freedom of ideas for new methods, new ideas relevant to its economies and politics. There is no ultimate in the state's development, he said, "but there is hope of betterment, and to this end all economic, all political theories must be open to criticism."

Many doctrines and practices new regarded as abhorrent were long and until comparatively recently in vogue, he said, and were abandoned because of criticism and the consequent birth of new ideas. Cromwell sold prisoners of war for slaves, public lotteries were considered as valuable means of revenue, citizens were imprisoned for debt, the accused were tortured to secure confessions and witnesses to secure evidence.

"What we now consider as great evils were not practised and controlled by tyrants, but by well meaning men of the time," said Judge Camp in pointing out that criticism was responsible for the dropping of these and other practices now considered equally intolerable.

"Government is by nature hostile to criticism," the speaker said, and if it could have its wish "there would be no urging of new methods, no changes except such little reforms from within as government itself might choose to make." Continuing Judge Camp said:

As concerns religion and pure science, freedom has long been fairly well established among us. Also one may without danger of the jail publish an academic defense of anarchism or of communism. But between the solitary thinker and the people there needs to be an interpreter, one who takes the dry, abstract argument and makes it vital to the public; some one who has the gift of popular appeal, and it is for such that the policeman's club is set aswimming. For now government is too dead, its perfection questioned, its dignity flouted. And the question arises—is it to the interest of the State that government clap its hand over the agitator's mouth? Let us take the question as it arises here and now.

It cannot possibly be wise to shut off a man's speech simply because he is a communist. For even he may have worth while ideas quite apart from his communism. John Dewey and he ought to know—says we have something to learn from Russian methods in education. So, to ordain that a public meeting shall not be held because one of those who are to speak is a communist would be highly detrimental to the state. For society to tolerate its government in any such arbitrary and high handed action were to cultivate in the people docility, abjectness, slavishness, whereas the state truly needs a bold, upstanding, daring populace.

Suppose the doors open and the speakers speak. The communist says that the Constitution of the United States is a mere curio, long since ready for a shelf in a museum of antiquities—that to escape further disaster we must

OPEN HOUSE AT NEW HOME OF RESNICKS

Open house is being held on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. David Resnick at their new home, 205 North Sunnyside avenue. A cordial invitation has been extended to all their friends to visit and inspect their home.

Mrs. Brown Begins San Quentin Term As Prisoner 53,573

Her motion for another trial being overruled, Mrs. Ida Brown arrived at San Quentin penitentiary on Wednesday and lost her identity in a number, 53,573. She was downcast and haggard after the long ordeal of two trials as she went through the customary prison routine. For an indeterminate number of years, between one and fourteen, she will spend her days in the prison laundry or scrubbing floors of the prison for blinding her husband with hot lye.

Tried twice before the same jury she was convicted of assault with a caustic and found to be sane. At both trials her husband testified, in an effort to save her, that he had struck her.

The home of the Brown's in San Gabriel Court, where the crime was committed, was sold at a foreclosure sale on Friday.

Four Classes Of Students To Graduate

Pupils At Grammar School
Present Play—Exercises
In Pasadena

Sierra Madre pupils from grammar school to college age, reach the end of another semester's work today, and graduation exercises both here and in Pasadena will see four mid-year classes take another step upward in the educational system.

The local grammar school, as is the winter custom, will have no regular graduation ceremonies, although the senior class will present a play today.

At Pasadena Junior College, at Muir Technical High School and Woodrow Wilson Jr. High School, many Sierra Madre youths are participating in the graduation activities, and will receive honors for their scholastic standing and their meritorious work in the past months.

"The Happy Prince," Oscar Wilde's fanciful story of the lead statue that became gold through kindness, will be staged by the graduating class of Sierra Madre grammar school this morning at 11 o'clock in the auditorium.

Unexpectedly learning last Friday that they were to present a play, in lieu of graduating exercises, the 6-A pupils, under the direction of their teacher, Mary Shepherd Wheeler, started rehearsing their parts the fore part of this week. The play will be their final school activity here.

Principal roles in the play will be taken by Lorraine Hobson and Pamela Gaze, who has distinguished herself already here by several child parts she has played well. The rest of the cast is composed of the entire 6-A class.

Following are the pupils who take part in the play, and who Monday will leave the local institution to resume their schooling at the Woodrow Wilson Jr. High in Pasadena: Toshiko Aisawa, Sheldon Atterbury, Victoria Ballesteros, Ralph Davis, Edward Dickes, Mary DeTemple, Philip Dillon, Pamela Gaze, Margaret Groth, Ralph Hilbert, Geneva Hill, Lorraine Hobson, Alex Holcombe, Carlyle House, Barney Huber, Norman Jensen Jr., Barbara Mitchell, Donald Nelson, Louise Odum, William Van Meter, Brion York and Muriel Zahler.

Wednesday night at Woodrow Wilson, David Palmer, of Sierra Madre, acted as toastmaster at the Senior-A banquet, and Elaine Butts played Rachmaninoff's Prelude in C sharp Minor as a piano solo. Tonight the graduation exercises will be held.

At that time Elaine Butts, David Palmer and Kingo Takasugi will receive honor society pins, and the following pupils from where will graduate: Ruth Schuster, Genelle Paschall, Marjorie Stinman, Hope Frechtman, Rose Mary Forrester, Harry Robertson, Davide Palmer, Elaine Butts, Harry Chatsworthy, David Palmer and Kingo Takasugi. Genelle Paschall will give an address during the student program.

Local students who have served as officers at Wilson include Elaine Butts, who served on the Child Welfare Commission and Genelle Paschall, who has been vice-president of the Senior-A class.

A CORRECTION

A Monrovia attorney who represented Mrs. Izetta Carlson before a San Marino jury, which on January 10 convicted her of reckless driving, advises The News that Mrs. Carlson was not convicted of reckless driving "while under the influence of liquor" and the records in the San Marino court substantiate his assertion.

State Costs Will Be Cut By Assembly

Local Legislator Predicts
Taxes Will Be Equalized
And Deficit Wiped Out

Frank G. Martin, of Altadena, Assemblyman from the Forty-eighth district returned Sunday evening from Sacramento where he introduced several measures of direct interest to this district and several others of State-wide importance.

Martin offered the first bill to reduce delinquent tax penalties and among others presented were: To provide for a five day week and a six hour day in all State Public Works; a concurrent resolution asking for $20,000,000 or more of a loan by the State from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for unemployment relief in this and other counties; He also introduced a bill designed to limit the number of measures on the ballot in California by increasing the number of signatures required to get a measure on the ballot and one to change the date of all primary elections to the first Tuesday in May which would save the expense of one State-wide primary every four years.

Martin is the author of a measure requiring all members of grand juries to take an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and the State of California (a provision which, strangely enough, never has been put in the statutes). Another bill he introduced would impose the death penalty in aggravated cases of kidnapping.

The local legislator thinks there has been much undeserved criticism of the Legislature in regard to the first session and that it may not be generally known that only emergency measures can be adopted in their first session. There has been a great deal of important committee work during the month. Mr. Martin says. He is a member of the two most powerful committees that have to do with the financial affairs of the State, Ways and Means and Revenue and Taxation and is chairman of the committee on Public Charities and Corrections. The Ways and Means committee—a majority of whose members are from Los Angeles county—will sit frequently during the 30-day recess to consider the budget. Mr. Martin is confident that several million dollars will be saved in economies which will be ordered and that a way will be found to balance the budget and to equalize taxes.

PTA To Celebrate
Movements Birth
Here February 15

Past presidents and officers as well as members of the local Parent-Teachers Association will attend a special meeting that is to take place in the schoolhouse February 15 in celebration of Founders Day of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Reserved seats are to be held for the past presidents, and a program of great interest to those active in P.T.A. work is to be arranged in accord with the nationwide observance of the day. Everyone and particularly parents are urged to attend.

C. FRED SAUR PASSES ON AT HIS HOME HERE

C. Fred Saur passed away suddenly at his home, 206 South Sunnyside avenue, on Tuesday. He was born 68 years ago in Kleinstenfer, Germany, coming to California in 1915 from New Jersey, where he spent the greater part of his life. He retired from the grocery business in New Jersey some years before coming to California. He has resided with his nephew, Fred Stauss, for the past 13 years, ten of which have been spent in Sierra Madre.

Besides Mr. Stauss he is survived by two other nephews, Charles Muller and Fred Muller, of Eagle Rock, and one sister, Mrs. T. Koch, of Los Angeles. A short service will be held at his home at 8:30 o'clock on Saturday morning, with Rev. Pritchard officiating. Services will be held at 10 o'clock at the Little Church of the Flowers and interment take place at Forest Lawn.

VALENTINE PARTY AT ST. RITA'S CHURCH

St. Valentine's Day will be celebrated with a card party on Tuesday evening, February 14, at St. Rita's church. The gentlemen of St. Rita's Church are sponsoring the affair with W. E. Craig as chairman. Assisting Mr. Craig with arrangements are Otto Myers and Pat Ronan. Attractive cash prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. A nominal admission fee will be charged. Everyone in the community is invited.

VISITOR HERE GOING BACK TO SHANGHAI

Mrs. Daryl Wilbur Cardell, well known radio entertainer, who has been visiting her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Lovell of Hermosa avenue, for the past two months, plans to sail on the Monterey for Honolulu on February 10. She will spend three weeks in Honolulu before sailing for Shanghai and Manila, where she will join her husband.

Many Children And Families Cared For By Red Cross Fund

The local Red Cross chapter furnished 1,336 lunches to 75 school children here during January, the monthly report of Miss Marian Vannier, chapter chairman, reveals. Also, 84 quarts of milk were provided to the schools.

Further statistics of general interest included in the report are: Families aided with food and clothing numbered 70, the individuals thus helped totalling 193. 113 sacks of flour were distributed, and 312 articles of clothing were made from government cotton. In addition to this the chapter aided 57 transients, repaired 21 pairs of children's shoes, and sent 526 quarts of milk into private homes.

Persons who made money pledges during the recent Roll Call time are requested by workers to pay their subscriptions as soon as possible so that the relief work may be carried on without interruption.

January Left Record Rain Of 15 Inches

Final Storm Brings Snowfall
On Mt. Wilson To More Than 100 Inches

The prediction made by Gin Chow when he visited the Wistaria Vine here early this week, that we may expect six or eight weeks more of cold weather, was substantiated by reports from Punxsatowney, Pa., that old Gordon Groundhog saw his shadow on February 1. So, although the month started out with sunshine and roses, if there is anything at all to the tradition of the prophetic animal Spring isn't quite here.

The groundhog, if there are any in Southern California, couldn't have gotten away from his shadow here at anytime from sun up to sunset on Thursday.

Sunday's rain, of an inch and a half, spelled curtains for the record breaking storms of January, sending the season's total up to 15.05 inches, as compared with less than four inches last year. That is the high figure as recorded at the Mira Monte reservoir, while the total at the Sierra Madre dam is 14.87, and the instruments at the Central avenue pumping plant show 13.02. The precipitation for the season is now greater than at the same time last year, which was uncommonly wet.

Climaxing the January snowfall with a storm Sunday night, Mr. Wilson's total for the season is 100 inches, with a 68 inch pack on the ground the fore part of the week. Eighty-six inches of snow have fallen there in the past two weeks.

State's History Is Told In Operetta By School Pupils

"The Spirit of California," an operetta reviewing history studied during the past term, was presented by the 4-A class of the Sierra Madre Grammar School on Friday morning. Assisting Mrs. Yerda Adams, teacher of the class who directed the play, were Miss Mary Pfahler directing the music; Miss Cricket Caukin, who originated the dances, and Miss Florence Lusted, who had charge of the scenery and costumes.

The text and lyrics of the operetta were written by Mrs. Florence Pakman of Sierra Madre, and the music was composed by Mrs. Elthea Turner, of Los Angeles.

Among those taking part in the operetta were Betty Lou Seyler, who gave a solo Spanish dance. The Indians were portrayed by Wallace Alsen, Bennie Mora and Preston Evans. Bertram Smith was Cabrillo; Truman Stivers and Vernon Sholder, soldiers; Russell Lovejoy, Father Serra; Philip Alberin and Kazuto, Padres; Betty Lou Seyler, Carmelita; Burton Frechtman, Senor Alberto; Adella Platte, Senora Rosita; Vivian Yule, Josefa; Jean Bradford, Senora Delores; Maxine York and Muriel Downs, grape gatherers; Lois Lovell, Betty Penn, Leona High, Gloria Swanson, Betty Wilson Simmons and Doris Bever, Spanish dancers; Eddie Feder, Herbert Howard, Robert Murphy and Billy MacDougall, miners; Richard MacComb, Jonathan; Martha Jane French, pioneer mother; Ethel Bawden, Priscilla; Margaret Ann Steinberger, Mary; Carla Thayer, Maxine Odum and Murray McFarlane, children; James Warta, Old Man, and Barbara Gerschler, Spirit of California.

Bugle Call Will Sound For Scouts

Observance Of Boys' Week
Here To Begin With Assembly At School Flagpole

Next Thursday at 7:30 p.m. the Boy Scouts of Sierra Madre will hear a bugle call to assembly that will send them double time to the public school grounds where they will group about the flagpole. There they will give a flag salute, and observance of annual Scout Week will be officially on.

In order to impress on the parents of all boys of scout age here the importance of the scouting movement, and to give them practical demonstrations of what scouts learn and how well they carry out the principles that they are sworn to observe, a program will be presented in the school auditorium. Every adult, especially parents, and every boy in the city is cordially invited to attend.

Art Evans, District Scout Commissioner, will give a speech of introduction, and the chief speaker of the evening will be Joseph P. Howe, president of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Boy Scout Council. Mr. Howe will present motion pictures that he has taken in his extensive travels, and will talk on scouting as it is established in many lands.

A demonstration of first aid will be given by members of Troop No. 1, while Troop 2 is to give a playette appropriate to the occasion. A bugler, sounding taps, will close the program.

Throughout the week, from Thursday, February 8 to 14, scout exhibits are to be on view in both Rikeman's window and in the Sierra Madre Hardware store. Included in the exhibits is a miniature totem pole of wood on which are carved the symbols of the various phases of scouting such as first aid, tracking, knot-tying, etc.

All over the United States scout leaders are prepared to launch a short campaign to keep the great movement that was started in 1907 by Lord Baden-Powell, going forward. Scouts themselves will read papers designed to keep alive the traditions of W. D. Boyce, Edward S. Stewart and Stanley Willis, who founded the Boy Scouts of America on February 8, 1910. There will be an effort to acquaint the parents of the present of the big names that have been associated with scouting since its inception. These names include such world famous ones as Theodore Roosevelt, Dan Beard, Ernest Thompson Seton and William Howard Taft.

Only 11 Children Born In This City During Year 1932

The yearly report released this week by Dr. J. M. Furstman, district health officer, reveals that there were 117 diphtheria and 71 smallpox immunizations given in Sierra Madre during 1932.

There were 47 deaths compared with 11 births recorded by the county health authorities during the year, but this cannot be taken as true comparative figures because of the fact that there were many Sierra Madre babies born in hospitals out of town.

Of the deaths that occurred within the city, the ages ranged from 2 years to 90, and it is a strange fact that none between the ages of 50 and 60 died during the year.

School Children To Trode Decks Of The Old Constitution

The dull and dusty pages of history will come to life for Sierra Madre children soon, and they will see the glamorous events of America's past not as printed words to be memorized, but as actual adventures worthy of keen interest.

When the U.S. fighting ship, Constitution, comes to Los Angeles Harbor, in San Pedro, the pupils of the local grammar school will take a day off and be shown the oldest of Uncle Sam's battleships. It is not known yet the exact date that the trip will take place, but arrangements have already been made with the Pacific Electric for a special train. According to Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, school principal, several of the service organizations here are making it possible for every child to make the journey.

GIN CHOW HERE TO SEE GREAT WISTARIA: TELLS OF PARENT IN CHINA REACHING CLOUDS

Cool Weather Here For Several Weeks Predicted By
The Famed Prophet

OLD GIN CHOW, famed Chinese weather prophet, and Colonel H. B. Hersey, formerly chief government meteorologist in Southern California, met under the far spreading runners of the great Wistaria Vine on the Fenel estate Tuesday afternoon, looked at the gathering clouds overhead and discussed the weather and the prospects of the vine, which the visitor is coming back to see during this year's Fete.

"Whatever Mr. Chow says about the weather goes with me," Colonel Hersey told interviewers. "More rain?" murmured Mr. Chow smoothly in broken English. "Read my book—now on sale."

Unanimous Call Goes To New Pastor

Congregation Of Bethany
Church Votes For Rev.
Stewart R. Sheriff

The congregation of Bethany Church voted unanimously to engage the Rev. Stewart R. Sheriff as the permanent pastor, and everyone who attended the annual business meeting Wednesday night expressed himself as highly pleased with the selection.

Meeting a week ago Friday, the board of Deacons and Elders of the church recommended Mr. Sheriff as the successor to Rev. William Duncan Ogg, and according to custom, announcement of the selection was made at two Sunday services. Final official sanction of the Board's choice lay with the congregation itself.

Rev. Mr. Sheriff, living temporarily in Pasadena, plans on moving to Sierra Madre with his wife and two children as soon as suitable quarters are found.

Next Sunday he will deliver his first sermon from Bethany pulpit in his capacity as regular pastor.

City Establishes Enviably Record In Tax Payments

A fraction less than half of the taxes assessed here have been collected to date according to the official county tax report received by City Clerk Waverly E. Pratt this week. The total to be collected for the full 1932-1933 fiscal year, from June 30 to June 30, is $77,935.92, while $38,728.83 has been collected. Part of these collections were in payment for the half, and a minority included the full yearly sum. The first half's payments are delinquent April 20, according to City Clerk Waverly Pratt.

The county tax collector's records reveal Sierra Madre in a class almost by itself in the matter of collections throughout the business depression, and not more than half a dozen cities of Los Angeles county equal it in the first half of the present year's collections.

HART MEMORIAL IS PLACED IN CITY PARK

The blue porcelain bird-bath, that was purchased by friends as a perpetual memorial to the memory of Mrs. Corrie Whitney Hart who recently died in Sierra Madre, is now completely installed in the north-east portion of the city park, save for an inscribed bronze tablet which will be set into the ground at the base in the future. No ceremonies attended the placing of the statuette.

Herbert Hoover On A Trail Hike Saves Dog's Life

Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the President and resident of this city, saved the life of a dog Tuesday, and in so doing revealed the fact that he has fallen before the charm of the Sierra Madre foothills.

While tramping in the semi-wild mountain country to the north of his estate on upper Sierra Madre avenue, Mr. Hoover heard a dog whining in distress. He found that a police dog had become trapped in a steel trap intended for some wild malefactor, and had crawled under an unoccupied cottage. Quickly, Mr. Hoover summoned Humane Officer J. L. Demeritt, and had the animal freed.

When told that the big vine was of the Chinese variety, the elderly Chinese said confidently, "We have much big one in China."

"At Lion Mountain there is the Mi-Ma-Huang vine. He goes hundred feet up high cliffs into clouds. I go up him on picnic long time ago when child. Up far there is Tea Tree—sacred tea tree. Only one man knows of this tree and he goes up vine and picks tea and sells to rich men. This tea never leaves China."

"Mountains in China different than these here. Very high and not much grows on them. Only way to get up on Lion Mountain is to climb wistaria vine. The trunk of the vine is so big..." He gestured so as to make the dimensions of Mi-Ma-Huang similar to those of a medium sized California redwood tree.

The weather up around Sierra Madre and the foothills is liable to be cold during the next month. Mr. Chow reluctantly observed when guided back to the subject of most concern to Sierra Madre. Colonel Hersey agreed.

If the Wistaria so well known to Southern Californians were located in China, the chances are that a god would inhabit it, and that the Chinese people would bow down before it in reverence.

"In China," intoned Mr. Chow, "they worship many things, even such as this vine. But only if there are little holes on it. Then they believe that gods are within." These worm holes, or decay spots, he explained, give evidence that the gods and spirits may come and go from a thing—in other words act as doors and windows.

The small, brown armored buds on the famous wistaria in the mean time, have not matured much in the past two weeks. Cold and lack of the usual amount of sunshine has retarded the blooming to such an extent that the fete will probably not be held at quite as early a date as had been anticipated, although there is no doubt but what that date will be much in advance of the usual time.

Classical Trend At New Art Exhibit

Oils, Etchings, Woodprints
And Dry Points Shown
At Little Gallery

An art exhibit featured by the number of oil paintings turning away from the modern influence and showing a decided trend toward the classical school of the old masters, opened in the Little Gallery here last night.

Artists from the Pasadena Academy of Fine Arts have contributed several noteworthy canvases and a group of eight etchings, woodprints, and dry-points. Lorser Feitelson, who spoke to those who attended the opening on the subject of art criticism shows two oils, one "Judgment de Paris," a nude group of fine color quality, and a more serious painting, "Two Peasant Women," a character study, both of which attracted much attention.

Ruth Miller, who gained second prize in the world Olympic art competition in Los Angeles last summer, exhibits "The Picnic," an unusual work in green. "The Holiday" is an ambitious group painting by Grace McLean. Mrs. Feitelson contributes one "The Mirror," a group of nude bathers that is reminiscent of her husband's Parisian canvases.

All of the contributing artists are Southern California residents although there is no local touch apparent in the exhibition. Their aim, as fostered by Mr. Feitelson's principle, is to secure a classical, three-dimensional effect, rather than to follow in line with the greater number of present day impressionists.

In addition to the artists mentioned the following are represented in the exhibit: Ejner Hansen, Katherine Mortimer, Ruth Peters, William Burn, Natalie Newkirk, Helen Lunderberg, Mildred Brooks, A. A. Raymond, Jane Thurston, Pauline Seiberger, and Martha Simons.

The evening's hostesses that received the artists and visitors last night were Mrs. W. R. Morgan, Mrs. Edith Hawhurst, Mrs. Adolph Kelterborn, Mrs. Harold Allen, Miss Janet Allen, Mrs. R. O. Caukin, Mrs. A. F. Snell, Mrs. Donald Thayer, Mrs. Fred Ackley, Mrs. Irving Ward and Mrs. W. L. Rhoades. Punch and coffee were served.

Newcomers To The City Are Welcomed

Newcomers welcomed to Sierra Madre during the past week have been Mrs. A. Kantor of 391 North Baldwin avenue; William J. Schaffner of No. 14 Belle Vue Court, Fred Zaunsel, 233 North Mountain Trail avenue; J. H. Freeman, 389 East Montecito avenue; Grand View avenue, and Jacob Bellove, 101 North Grove street.

Real Giant Of Asia Is China, Speaker Tells Churchmen

Prof. Russell M. Story, of Pomona College, gave a very unusual address on China in relation to Manchuria at the Congregational Church last night. After a dinner, such as the ladies of the church are noted for, the pastor, Rev. Arthur O. Pritchard, introduced the speaker as one who had revisited China with eyes trained to look at social problems.

Prof. Story with great clearness analyzed the Asiatic situation into its factors. Japan determined to gain a course of supply for the raw products to feed its millions, Korea that land ruled but not conquered by Japan, and China, the silent, patient, ancient nation of 400,000,000 people, waiting to crush or absorb her enemy.

He pointed out that whatever the government may be, the population, the business, the banking interests of Manchuria, are overwhelmingly Chinese. Also that the ancient nation is for the first time in her history able to resist her enemies; that she is training her people in arms and that she is self contained. Whatever the immediate situation may be, China is the giant of Asia.

Next Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m., the China series of talks will be continued with Rev. J. R. Lyons, of Claremont, speaking on "Missions in China."

DISCUSSION OF SCHOOL FINANCES POSTPONED
The talk on school finance and legislation by George Bush, superintendent of South Pasadena schools, which was scheduled for last Wednesday night in the school auditorium here, was indefinitely postponed. Mr. Bush was indisposed and unable to reach Sierra Madre.

HEALTH AIDS DR. MARTIN J. KARTOFF

HEALTH IS NATURAL
IN MY health columns I have always attempted to impress upon the readers the naturalness of health and the unnaturalness of disease. All diseases are really one. If one is to master the art of health preservation, and science of disease correction, one must understand the great laws of health and disease, and interpret all symptoms by them.

If you hold a sane view regarding sickness and changes in health, it is far easier to maintain a normal state, for the causes of ill-health can thus be avoided with more certainty. When the correct view of disease is held, when the part the individual himself plays in the development and correction of disease, and when this is understood, the sanity of natural treatment becomes obvious.

Since disease is a highly complex state some of the facts may be hard to understand, but I will always endeavor to explain them as simply as possible; also the subject of any disease, not being a too-pleasant topic to discuss, some of the facts may be a little painful. Nevertheless I will try my best to pass them on to you painlessly. Here's hoping that you don't come back at me like the little fellow who went to one of these painless dentists to have a tooth pulled. Arriving at the dentist's he was placed in a chair, and the doctor calmly proceeded to pull out the tooth with his forceps. Suddenly without warning, the little fellow let out an agonizing howl, which fairly shook the building.

"What's the screaming for?" cried the dentist. "Don't you know I couldn't hurt you? I'm a painless dentist."

"That may be so, Doctor," retorted the little fellow, "you may be painless, but I'm not."

We can fool our minds, but we cannot fool our bodies! The life processes are logical, intelligent and harmonious. We could make our health problems so simple if we would only adhere to the common-sense principles which progressive doctors have been preaching.

Dr. Kartoff will answer health questions addressed to him in care of this column.

A man's worst enemy is often right under his own hat.

The train of time and opportunity has no rear entrance; you have to enter by the front door if you care to ride.

An Opportunity For Boys Who Yearn For The Briny Deep

Young men and women in Sierra Madre with deep-sea complexes and a yearning for intricate knowledge of navigation and nautical astronomy will be rewarded by the opportunity that will be provided soon in Pasadena by the foundation of an extension division of the University of Southern California's course in those subjects.

Captain Frank Jensen, university instructor, has received numerous requests for a class in this territory, and one will be started as soon as 20 have signed up. The class will be limited to 25. Each class will make a number of ocean cruises on which the students will learn to take observations with a sextant, and learn the general navigation rules at first hand.

Communications and inquiries may be mailed to Tom Sanson, at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, and registration cards will be forwarded. An interesting free lecture on the history of navigation will be open to the public in the near future before the course is started.

Suits Threaten As Business Licenses Become Delinquent

Within 30 days all business tax delinquencies must be paid, states Chief of Police Gordon McMillan. Each violator of the ordinance which makes it unlawful for a person to conduct a business or trade without paying the city of Sierra Madre the prescribed fee, will be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor subject to a maximum fine of $100 and 50 days imprisonment, or both penalties.

An additional penalty of $25 may be inflicted to cover court expenses, according to the ordinance. Chief MacMillan warns all who are delinquent at present that it will be compulsory for him to issue complaints against them if they fail to meet their obligations within the reasonable time he has set, and he has caused a legal notice of his intention to proceed against delinquents in another column of this issue of THE NEWS.

Chief McMillan says the number of delinquencies is small in comparison with the number in other towns of the San Gabriel Valley.

A. L. A. Activities

By Dorothy Shetler
THE GIRLS of the Junior Auxiliary are all a'twitter over the installation and initiation ceremonies to be held this Saturday afternoon at 2:30 in the Legion rooms. Ten girls are to take the oath of allegiance, and six expect to take office. Many members of the Senior A.L.A. are going to be present to take charge of the ceremonies, each officer having some part in the ritual. The girls request that they would be glad to have any of the A.L.A. or Legion attend. This will be the day scheduled for the lucky person to receive the steel kitchen set as a prize.

We are glad to report that Lelia Embree's father back in Rochester, is convalescing after a very successful throat operation.

We are also glad to report that Edna Taylor is recovering from a very serious infection, and is now able to get around the house without difficulty.

Book Chairman Ellen Evans urges each of us to collect the books and current magazines now to be held in readiness for the collection to be made in March.

Reserve February 14th for the Fourth Area meeting in Los Angeles. There will be the usual get-together luncheon, for which reservations must be made.

President Barker also has a request to make for a collection to be taken later on. She asks that the large sized coffee cans be saved, for flower receptacles, to be used on Memorial Day in the cemetery.

A very large crowd turned out for the A.L.A. meeting last Thursday night at the Legion Dugout. The credit for bringing the members out goes to Mrs. Jessica H. Wright's promised speech. And your "collyumiste" is going to steal a bit of the credit, too—for do you remember some time ago she threatened to have in print the names of the absent members in the future! So between the desire to hear a most interesting speaker and a non-desire to be bawled out in public just about every one that could possibly be there . . . was.

We had two surprise speakers that evening. Miss Elizabeth Steinberger told about the coming visit of the U.S. Constitution to the harbor at San Pedro. She explained how enthused the children are about visiting the historic "Old Ironsides." There are about 40 children in town that will not be able to pay the half fare on the Pacific Electric cars, and Miss Steinberger would be glad to her from anyone that would see that one or more children is furnished with the fare.

Americanism Chairman Augusta Coats, added a few words concerning the amount of patriotism that can be instilled into children by some actual contact with something to do with early American history, or anything to do with the struggles America has gone through. It was her opinion that a trip to "Old Ironsides" would be as worthwhile a lesson on patriotism as could be given.

Mrs. Wright, legislative chairman, in her talk said it would take quite a long time to even hit on all the veteran bills; as there is something like a thousand to be considered at some time. She said that a letter writing campaign at this particular time would have very little effect on veteran legislation as there are other bills that must be settled first and the session is too short to get to the veteran bills.

After the business of the evening was discussed, a social time followed playing Bunco. First prize was received by Miss Minnie Stinman, while Lucile Pickett was more than consoled with her "booby" prize. Mrs. Florence Jensen and Mrs. Elizabeth Goodier acted as hostesses, serving delicious tea, cake and candy. The two ladies who have been considering their avoirdupois with a very unfriendly eye, took one look at the eats and fell off the chow wagon.

The next A.L.A. meeting will be held February 9 in the City Hall. February is Americanism month and the program will be in charge of the Americanism committee. Lelia Embree will be hostess.

Sierra Madre Unit and Post turned out O.K. for the third 18th District Dance held this time in Alhambra. The music was excellent, the crowd congenial and if you want to know what a swell-elegant time was had just talk to Mr. and Mrs. A. Goodier, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jensen, Mr. and Mrs. James Irvine, Mr.

and Mrs. Thorne Mathis, Commander and Mrs. Ray Caukin and daughter Cricket, and the chairman of the dance Roy Shetler, incidentally the "collyumiste" will affirm it was a grand party.

Revolutionary Tax Plan Proposed Before The Legislature Would Cut In Half Assessment On Real Property

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Sec. Agricultural Legislative Committee of California

CALIFORNIA'S tangled financial and taxation problem, paramount issue of the 1933 Legislature, both in its relation to agriculture and the welfare of the State generally, is still far from solution. The legislative box score for the first month tallies about as follows:

ON ECONOMY ISSUES
Refusal to submit emergency measures to the people to curtail school costs or other "fixed charges."

Refusal to accept the Rolph budget for the coming two years, due largely to its provisions for shifting certain costs back to the counties and local governments.

Failure, at the first session, to submit a substitute budget.
Recommendations, through the Bush economy committee, for many drastic and far-reaching reductions in the cost of general government. The work of this committee constituted the only positive action of the session toward effecting economy.

ON TAXATION ISSUES
Many programs, but no action. The chief characteristic of the legislative mind on tax questions, during the opening session, was indecisiveness. This was due, in part, to a wide divergence of opinion on the part of general taxpayers and public bodies on means of equalizing the tax load.
Introduction of measures to increase taxes on public utilities, especially telephone and power companies.

Submission, during the last days of the session, of a plan for sweeping revision of the State and county tax structure. This program, the most comprehensive and revolutionary plan submitted, was drafted by State Controller Ray L. Riley.

Casting up the ledger on the first session, the chief danger to the taxpayer seemed to lie in the indecisiveness of the Legislature—the possibility that inability to "get together" on a program may thwart solution of the problem and terminate in the imposition of an ad valorem, or state property tax.

Most reassuring, however, in indicating that the legislators are seeking a way out of the financial wilderness, is the growing recognition that a State property tax would be ruinous to agriculture and business alike and that something must be done to lighten the oppressive burden on owners of real property.

The far-reaching Riley plan, while it is yet to be weighed and tested, at least demonstrates a commendable determination to cope with the problem.

In brief, this plan would cut in half present taxes on farm and other real property, limiting to 50 per cent the amount of county and State revenue that could be raised from taxes on real and personal property and improvements.

It would also return all public utility corporation property to the counties for taxation, junking the present State gross receipts tax, and providing, as a substitute, for the levying of a low percentage gross income tax on every person and business in the State to raise revenues for both counties and State above the 50 per cent collected through real estate taxes.

While there are objectionable features to a gross income tax, due to the fact that it pyramids through a tax on each turnover, Controller Riley contends that this is partially offset by a huge tax base which would permit an exceedingly light tax, estimated at not more than 1 per cent.

The program is revolutionary in scope and will require thorough study before Californians render their verdict. But, regardless of the merit or lack of merit in the plan itself, it is an attempt to solve the problem.

IN YOUR GARDEN

SPRING FLOWERING SHRUBS

By Jessie Ward Russell

W H I T E the blooming of the Wistaria comes the spring flowering deciduous shrubs. These showy, hardy shrubs should be scattered here and there among evergreen shrubs to give accents in the garden in the late winter and early spring. For a mass of color they have no equal. By planting them among evergreen shrubs, their bareness during the fall and winter is not noticeable. They are of easy culture, require very little water and will grow in any climate.

About the first of the deciduous flowering shrubs to show color is the flowering Quince. It is a medium-sized shrub, covered in late winter with rosy-pink or red blossoms. It has a long blooming season, sometimes blooming even into the summer.

Next come the Flowering Peaches. Everyone admires these gorgeous trees in the late winter and early spring months. There are early and late varieties so that the blooming season can be extended over a longer period. The colors are white, pink, red and variegated.

Overlapping the blooming season of the Flowering Peaches are the snowy-white Bridal Wreaths or Spiraea. There are several varieties. They all bloom in great masses of white bloom but vary in size and shape of the small, individual blooms and the time of bloom.

The Tamerix with its graceful slender branches, is a pink mist of delicate bloom in the spring just about the time the Wistaria is in bloom. There is another variety that blooms in the early summer. The Tamerix that is used as a windbreak in the desert is an evergreen variety that does not have as striking bloom as

SYLVIA SYDNEY COMES TO THE PLAYHOUSE

Sylvia Sydney, former stage star of New York and now a scintillant star of the screen, and Arthur Lubin, director and motion picture executive, will play the leading roles in a lavish revival of "Lilliom," Franz Molnar's great fantasy spectacle, to be staged for a limited engagement of two weeks at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, beginning February 28, Gilmore Brown, producing director, announces.

the deciduous varieties. The old-fashioned Weigelia are charming in the garden. Their flowers are trumpet shaped, in pink or red.

The Persian Lilacs always bloom in profusion in this climate—much better than the regular Eastern Lilacs. There is a soft lavender variety that has cut leaves which does exceptionally well here.

Other spring flowering deciduous shrubs are Flowering Crabapples, Dentzas, Syringas, Flowering Almonds and Flowering Cherries.

And I must not forget the Pussy Willows. If you want to get the feeling of spring in the house, just place a bowl of Pussy Willows on the window sill. By the time you are ready to throw them out, you will have rooted plants, ready to plant in the garden.

GREAT TEAM TAKES LEAD IN 'LAWYER MAN'

The case of an honest young lawyer vs. a big city's politicians will be presented before Judge Public when William Powell's latest comedy hit, "Lawyer Man" opens a week's engagement at the Tower Theatre in Pasadena tomorrow, with Joan Blondell in the leading feminine role.

It is a new sort of story for Powell, fast-paced drama which runs a rapid gamut from ward cases on the East Side to big business cases on Fifth Avenue, which jerk him out of his little corner of the world and deposit him in an elaborate suite of offices.

For the first time in their careers Powell and Blondell have been teamed in a picture. The comedy touches introduced by Powell and the wise-cracking Joan Blondell are funnier than either has ever achieved alone. The situation of Miss Blondell being Powell's secretary and in love with him, but he not with her and her remarks to and about the other women who hover around him in the height of his success is bound to please even the most skeptical.

Showing for the final times tonight is Spencer Tracy and Bette Davis in "20,000 Years in Sing Sing," written by Warden Lewis E. Laws, of Sing Sing.

BREAKFAST AT NEXT OPERA CLUB MEETING

An unusual feature of the February meeting of the San Gabriel Valley Opera Reading Club will be the jolly and informal breakfast which will be served at 9:15 at the Woman's Clubhouse in Monrovia, on February 25. The opera reading will immediately follow.

The opera to be presented is the romantic Lakme by the French composer, Leo Delibes. The scene is laid in India and in the score Delibes pays tribute to the spell of Indian poetry, musical color and mystic thought.

Frederick Vance Evans, musical director of the club, will give the opera analysis and artists who will sing the roles are Dorothea Ferns, soprano, as Lakme; Ernestine Wheatley, mezzo-soprano, Malika and Mrs. Benson; Ralph Reilly, tenor, Gerald; and Ray Crittenden, baritone, Nilakantha and Frederic. Mrs. Lawrence Peck will be the accompanist.

As this meeting will open the second half of the club year new members may enter for half the yearly dues.

Local Sport Paragraphs

By John Copeland

WE hate to contradict you, Red, but it's out of the question to use the present school diamond for hard ball. By the time the bases were moved into the right positions there wouldn't be enough room left in the outfield to swat a medicine ball.

Somebody suggested the Baldwin property down off of Baldwin avenue and Foothill, but that's out too. The acreage has been turned over to an air company for an emergency landing field. Incidentally the space right adjacent, near Double Drive, is going to be a polo field shortly. Or so they say. Some combination.

How about it? Who's going to be the magnanimous boy who'll loosen up with a little acreage? The season isn't so very far off now.

Frankie Hora disputes that mile run stuff, says that he wants to do the 440, although the coach may finally decide to put him through his paces at 880.

Jack Young, Bob Karicoffe and Bud Bains took skis, skates, and started out to Arrowhead Sunday. They, and the other 2,997 sport-lovers, ended up snowbound. One squirt at the snow-obscured ski jumps and at the frostbitten sky was enough for the lads. They parked their paraphernalia in the rumble seat and tried to go home. Which they didn't succeed in doing.

Sport observer Jackson Butler states that he saw five bicycle riders hitting it up on Central avenue. He wants to know if that grand old sport (well, old any way) is coming back. Perhaps. Mrs. Stella Dennison, started down her driveway on a cycle a while back, and tumbled onto her thumb, which is still in slings and splints.

Bowling is about the only amusement still hitting on all cylinders these wettish days. The Froehlichs and Krinkes have been tossing the balls down the boards pretty regularly, and last night tangled with the News-Post team. Kiwanian bowlers have kept under wraps due to chilly evenings, but expect to get going again soon.

Tennis players found the Conards' courts dryer than those in the park during the past week, in between showers, and so made use of them.

Good notion about the church league basketball. Also we'd suggest that the girls get together a team, but most of the eligibles are tied up in rehearsals for Hey Diddle-Dee. There's a good basketball team going to waste in that show: PerLee, Holland, Middough and the sisters Lich-nog.

Now the football rule-makers are going to get their heads together again. Among the more astute of the contemplated changes is the one putting a 15 yard penalty on the second incomplete pass. Another would result in the lord knows what sort of scrambled situations by giving possession of the ball to the defensive team knocking a pass down on the spot.

While they're making a lot of inconsequential, even injurious changes in the playing rules, why don't they get down to brass tacks and take the lid off the amateur-pro question—and settle once and for all whether some poor guy sweating his liver out for hours every day in order that 100,000 people may get $5 worth of thrill apiece must take his stingy dole under the table, or whether he may draw a weekly pay check in a sensible manner.

Who has enough naive humor to say that all college athletics are amateur in any sense of the word? UCLA this week knocked baseball off the list, and why? Because the gate receipts weren't up to par.

Must have been some sight up in Oakland Sunday when the House of David basketball men cleaned St. Mary's. If the bodily contact rule was ignored as often as it is down in this part of the State in the intercollegiate games, and if the playing in general was as rough, there must have been enough hair lying around on the floor after the final whistle to stuff a mattress with.

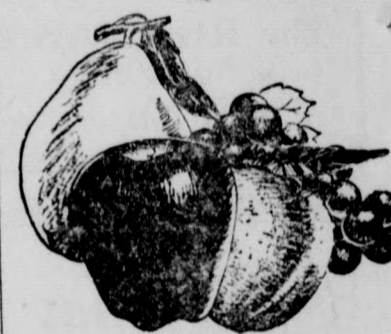

Funny thing. In Los Angeles, and without a doubt in many a small town many miles from even a foothill, there are hiking clubs, nature enthusiasts and collectors of flora and fauna. But in Sierra Madre, which couldn't be any closer to the mountains without being on a peak, there are not more than a handful of people who know an alpinist from a hobnailed boot.

There's probably not any sport on earth with a greater thrill to it than mountain climbing, unless it be skiing which is closely wed to the mountains in itself. And if you think that there's not plenty of hills closely that take plenty to climb, you're way off. Especially in winter. Some of the earth's grandest panoramas and vistas lie just to the north of this village, but we'll bet a nickle (plugged) that a list including everyone who has stood atop the far range, and looked down on Mojave on one hand and the far peak of Gorgonio on the other, could be printed handily on an air-mail stamp.

Both Morrison and Belohlavek had their crates warmed and humming Sunday, reports Mr. Munson, but rain kept them away from the tracks.

Erny Pinckert of the Southern California All Stars claims his team's chances of beating the Green Bay Panthers in the inter-sectional football game at Wrigley Field tomorrow has been tremendously increased afforded by the additional week of work outs.

Fire Flames

By one of the boys

IT HAS BEEN discovered that some of the recently purchased fire hose has a thread that is bothersome, so the practice of last Friday included a thorough inspection of all the hose on all the trucks. So many bad threads were found that a temporary arrangement is made to cope with the situation. Soon an edict of the State authorities will go into effect and then all the threads on all hose will have to be changed. This new law requires that all fire hose and fire plugs be of the same thread so that there will be no difficulty when one fire department is called upon to aid another.

Just as the men got down to the water plant and unloaded practically all the hose from the trucks, it started to rain. One of the big salvage covers was put in use to cover the truck, not only protecting the truck, but all those who could get under it.

While the trucks were out on practice, Captain Swanson drilled his First Aid Crew with the E. & J. resuscitator in the firemen's room over the engine house. Acting as a victim, Jim Heasley was given a dose of oxygen that sent him on his way singing "I Surrender Dear." Seeing what a glorious effect it had on Jim, Roy Walsworth asked for a "shot" and when the Captain got through with him, he went away singing "Let's Put Out the Lights and Go to Sleep." Just then Vern Udell dropped a wrench and Roy got his wish.

The meeting inevitably took up the "Wysteria" subject and long into the night the coming Fete was discussed. Louie was the 'engineer' of the "Feed" and you have our word for it that it was good.

This has been a real winter and so far we have been very fortunate as to fire calls. When we consider that the heating apparatus of so many types are now in full use, we must consider that we are lucky to have so few fires. However, the Chief is urging caution. He says to look that hose connection to the heater over. Hose will bear frequent inspections. The writer ran across a wonderful little safety device to apply to your gas hose connection. The hardware stores are selling them at a very small cost. It consists of a clamp that can be adjusted or tightened at the wall and at the heater, holding the hose and preventing a leak.

NEW PRICE SCHEDULE AT ARCADIA THEATRE

Bargain hours at Dean's Arcadia Theatre, during which patrons will have the opportunity of securing admission at greatly reduced prices, will commence Sunday, February 5 and continue until further notice. Every evening from 6:15 to 7 o'clock, on Sundays from 4 to 5 p.m., and at 2 o'clock Saturday, adults will be admitted for 15c, and children's tickets will be 10c.

Tonight and Saturday night and matinee, Warren Williams appears on the Arcadia screen in "The Match King." In this film, depicting the mad destiny of Kruger's fictitious counterpart, Mr. Williams is supported by Lila Damita. The story is that of the man who dictated the lives of millions with his rule of gold, then crashed under his own weight of intrigue. On the same bill is Edmund Lowe in "The Devil is Driving," a fast moving melodrama.

Sunday and Monday "He Learned About Women," with Stuart Erwin, and Carole Lombard in "No More Orchids" offers a varied program. Comedy of the kind furnished by Erwin is always worth an evening's time, and the film starring Miss Lombard is filled with romance and the swift drama of a transatlantic liner.

Tuesday and Wednesday "Me and My Gal" comes to Dean's theatre, featuring Spencer Tracy and Joan Bennett. Accompanying it is "Hot Saturday," in which Nancy Carroll shows you how flaming youth spends its week-ends.

City Pays Tribute To Judge E W Camp

Follow Russia in a proletarian dictatorship as first step to Marxian socialism. Shall the police stop him now? Not if the State's interest is the criterion. The speaker is merely uttering his beliefs. A belief, by the way, which was held by Henry Adams 60 years ago.

William Lloyd Garrison said that the same Constitution was a covenant with hell, and his statue stands on Commonwealth Avenue, Boston. Wendell Phillips preached violation of the fugitive slave law and his statue is in Boston Public Gardens.

Indeed it might be better worth our while to hear criticism of the Constitution than listen over ham and eggs at the Breakfast Club to a high school girl resputing her prize oration in its glorification.

Writing of a law penalizing publication of articles favoring anarchy or syndicalism, Dr. Chaffee in his book "Freedom of Speech," says:

"This law is a kindergarten measure which assumes that the American people are so stupid and untrustworthy that it is unsafe to let them read anything about anarchy and criminal syndicalism because they would immediately become converted. Above all we shall not be while to meet this great danger of lawlessness if we refuse to look the enemy in the face. The habits of the ostrich are instinctive in many human beings, but they have not been conspicuous for success."

But now our communist shouts: "In protest against this damnable plutocratic oligarchy I would like to see every court house in the country burned." Shall he be stopped? John Stuart Mills says No! And I believe him right. You recall the Hyde Park story. The Park orator yelled: "We must pull the King down off his throne," and the Bobby said "Move over a bit on the grass, so as not to block the walk. You can just as well pull the King off his throne from over there."

Men whom I have called interpreters—intermediaries between the close thinker and the populace—must be given much license. Consider the wide range allowed in addressing a jury: what strained inferences one may suggest, what weapons use—the laugh, sneer, gibe, wit, humor, tears, ridicule, sarcasm, how little often is the appeal made to reason, how much to emotion. The successful men of the platform must be emotional. It is through the emotions, not by cold reason that men are reached and moved.

Do not assume, however, that persistent nuisances, like our communist, are the only ones who will be shut off if he be stopped, not that the loss of ideas will be small because the communist's ideas are foolish. Let me quote again from Dr. Chaffee: "Too often we forget the multitudes of cautious and sensitive men, men with wives and children dependent upon them, men who abhor publicity, who prefer to keep silent in the hope of better days. We cannot know what is lost through the effect upon them of repression (repression of others, that is) for it is simply left un-

Two Theatre Seats For One Price At The Lyric Tonight

Tonight the readers of THE NEWS have the opportunity of securing one free admission to the Lyric theatre in Monrovia by presenting the coupon contained in the Lyric advertisement in this issue at the boxoffice, together with one paid admission. The Lyric, always the home of the latest and best pictures, is presenting to its patrons an exceptional group of the smartest releases of the day.

Tonight and Saturday, the Lyric offers Ann Harding in Phillip Barry's great play, "Animal Kingdom." There is dynamite in almost every foot of film and every word uttered in this picture. It is Phillip Barry screened at his best. It is a drama of human love.

On the same program is "Fast Life," featuring William Haines and Madge Evans—fast comedy and fast romance combined with plenty of action.

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, February 5, 6 and 7, Clark Gable scores again in "No Man of Her Own," with Carole Lombard and Dorothy Mackall. Clarke Gable is a gambler in this picture and lives by chance. Without a doubt it is Gable's greatest performance.

With this fine picture, is Barbara Stanwyck in "The Bitter Tea of General Yen," a flaming drama with a theme as old as the world, but presented in new and fascinating way.

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the Lyric brings to the screen, after a short absence, James Cagney. His first picture after his return is "Hard To Handle," a faster and funnier picture than "Winner Take All" and "Blonde Crazy" laid end to end.

every government could get together it would be different—but that we do not seem to be able to do."

It would seem that at such a time there should be everywhere free discussion; debate should be encouraged. Let any man offer his reasonings and let them be considered in public.

I have already suggested that a citizenry conscious that it is gagged and tamely submitting to the life of a state. On the contrary it was when restraints were thrown off that Italian art and letters flourished. The few years of Athenian glory were a time when a surge of free thought and expression bore the city up.

It is safer even for government that the powder of supposedly dangerous doctrine be set off in the open air and unconfined. It was the misfortune of the Russian Czar to drive anarchists, socialists and communists underground, where they undermined the throne. I find an apt excerpt quoted from one of Mr. Justice Holmes letters: "With effervescent opinions as with the not yet forgotten champagne, the quickest way to let them get flat is to let them get exposed to the air."

Again there is a certain sense of satisfaction and contentment even in the most cantankerous, after he has had his say without let or hindrance. Courts and commissions know this and usually give contestants a chance to blow off steam; then the defeated one may say that at least he has had his day and his say.

One other reason for allowing wide freedom of speech is that government has no adequate weapons to combat ideas. It is contending with a club against the powers of the air, pitting the material against the immaterial. The two move in different planes.

During the war a publication called "The Masses" was excluded from the mails because it contained certain poetry. Now the Masses had a very small circulation, but in the ensuing litigation those same obnoxious verses were distributed all over the country in law reports. Mrs. Stokes was sentenced to 10 years in prison for saying: "I am for the people, the government is for the profiteers" and again, words first published in but one newspaper were front paged all over the country.

The way to meet speech is with speech. "If there are any among us" said Jefferson, "who wish to dissolve this union or to change its republican form, let them stand undisturbed, as monuments of the safety with which error of opinion may be tolerated, where reason is left free to combat it."

every man can be a CAPITALIST

You do not have to be rich to be a capitalist. Every man with a few dollars in a savings account, every owner of Liberty Bonds, or the holder of real estate is a capitalist.

Webster says a capitalist is one who has capital or who has valuable property. Every man and boy can get into that class by means of a savings account. Some of the richest men in the country started with a few dollars, and put them to work. We will put your few dollars to work at 3 per cent interest, and the more you can add each month the more work—for you—will be done. Be a capitalist!
